

DETECTIVE HELD IN TAXICAB DEATH

Suspended After Arrest on Charge of Shooting Fleeing Chauffeur.

SAYS HE FIRED IN AIR

Ullino's Wife Says Husband Had Been Out of Work for Two Weeks.

Detective Philip Curry of the special service division under Inspector Samuel Belmont, denying that he had aimed at Daniel Ullino, taxicab chauffeur, who was shot and killed in West Forty-seventh street early yesterday morning, as he fled from in front of the West Forty-seventh street police station, was suspended several hours later and placed under arrest on a charge of homicide. He was taken to West Side Court after he had been questioned at the District Attorney's office, but by that time Magistrate Francis X. McGuire had adjourned court. Curry remained in custody of detectives of the West Forty-seventh street station to await the next session of the court.

Ullino took to his heels after he had driven a young woman described as Mrs. Gertrude Abdala, 19 years old, mother of two children, and Detective Curry to the station house from Broadway and Fifty-eighth street. Curry said the young woman had signalled him to enter the car, and that as soon as he got inside he ordered the driver to drive to the police station. After Curry and the woman got out in front of the station Ullino jumped from the seat and ran. It was said he was 250 feet away when Curry fired.

The detective admitted firing the shot, but said he pointed the revolver into the air. Ullino was shot through the heart and ran 100 feet after being hit before he collapsed. The body was unidentified for several hours, but finally was claimed by Ullino's wife, who lives at 320 East Twenty-seventh street. She said her husband had been out of work for two weeks and she had pawned a bracelet and her wedding ring to help pay their expenses and to support her two children, a boy, 3, and girl a year and a half old. Ullino never carried a revolver, she said. Mrs. Ullino wept bitterly and accused the detective of irresponsible use of firearms.

T. W. STUCK'S BODY IS FOUND IN EAST RIVER

Picked Up by Steam Yacht and Identified.

The body of Theodore W. Stucke, prominent member of the French colony in this city, whose financial reverses led him to leap to his death from the Queensboro Bridge on February 5, was found yesterday in the East River off Thirty-first street. Capt. John Gates of the steam yacht Notice sighted the body and brought it ashore. It was taken to the Morgue, where identification was established by Morris Williams of 341 West Forty-seventh street, Stucke's friend of many years.

Stucke was one of the leaders in a movement to produce French opera here. He invested considerable money in the Operetta Francaise, which was staged at the Belmont Theatre. The movement flourished here, but when the production was taken on the road it failed and Stucke lost his investment. His loss made him despondent, not particularly because of the money it cost him, but because it indicated that his plans for the popularization of the French language had failed.

RIEDY IS ACQUITTED IN WATERS'S DEATH

Claimed Self-Defence in Killing in Hotel Fight.

John Riedy, deserter from the navy, who admitted having killed Leeds Vaughan Waters in the Plymouth Hotel, Thirty-eighth street and Seventh avenue, November 3, 1920, was acquitted yesterday before Judge Thomas C. T. Crain in General Sessions of the charge of murder in the second degree. Riedy took the witness stand and told how in defending himself from Waters he had struck him twice. He declared the skull fracture which caused the man's death was caused by striking his temple against an iron bedstead as he recoiled from the force of one of these blows.

Riedy wore his sailor's uniform throughout the trial. He is 21 years old and his home is at 704 Booth avenue, Milwaukee.

DOROTHY ARNOLD CASE NOT CLEARED

Capt. Ayers Denies Saying Mystery of Her Disappearance Had Been Solved.

NO CLUE IN THREE YEARS

Latest Report Rose Out of High School Address That Was Misrepresented.

The latest report that the mysterious disappearance of Dorothy Arnold has been solved was exploded yesterday when Capt. John H. Ayers of the Bureau of Missing Persons of the Police Department denied that he ever said the mystery surrounding the girl's disappearance in December, 1910, had been cleared up.

Shown a copy of a story in which he was quoted as having said, in an address at the High School of Commerce, "All that I can say is that it has been solved by the department," the officer shook his head.

"The truth of the matter is," he said, "that at the close of my address someone asked: 'How about Dorothy Arnold?' I replied this way: 'Judging from the fact that those most interested—by that I mean her family—have apparently ceased their activity in the case, it looks as if they no longer regard it as a mystery to them.' I did not say that the mystery was solved."

Regarding a report that John S. Keith, attorney for the Arnold family, intended to complain to Commissioner Enright by letter, Capt. Ayers said: "There is no occasion for him to write a letter. I have been in charge of the Bureau of Missing Persons for three years, but in that time not one communication regarding Dorothy Arnold has been received by the bureau, or if it has it was not of sufficient importance to be brought to me. The could mean only one thing—that there are no longer any clues being unearthed."

Records at Police Headquarters showed yesterday that the Dorothy Arnold case is still listed as an unsolved mystery. The Bureau of Missing Persons was not in existence at the time the girl's disappearance was reported. As Capt. Ayers never worked upon the case, it was stated, he is in no position to pronounce it solved. The girl's disappearance was reported to the police station nearest her home, which was at 308 East Seventy-ninth street, while Capt. Ayers was then a lieutenant on desk duty in Brooklyn. It was stated that there has been no police activity on the case for a very long time.

FIVE OVERCOME BY GAS.

Five workmen in an excavation beneath the building at 147 Spring street were overcome yesterday when one of them, with a blow of his pick, opened a gas pocket. A sixth workman escaped the fumes and called for aid. Two physicians from St. Vincent's Hospital attended the men.

Lord & Taylor

THE vogue for Canton crepe is illustrated here in three charming gowns for Summer gaities, exquisitely embroidered and with many novel features; and two of the newest elegancies in Spring wraps, fringe effects and Canton crepe banded with monkey—one of the most exclusive Summer furs. From left to right: A gown with plaited side panels, embroidered in henna and emerald; a gown of navy, cut-out designs in beaded embroidery over grey chiffon, to match the sash; and, under the wrap, a glimpse of a smart navy gown elaborately embroidered with emerald satin girdle.

Beautiful Wraps of Canton Crepe

WRAPS for Summer wear allure you now, swinging light draperies of Canton crepe and satin, coolly lined with silk or filmy chiffon, trimmed with the new fringe effects and Summer furs. Sleeved and sleeveless modes, some richly edged with monkey, caracul, squirrel and lynx. They're just warm enough for the fresh days and evenings of Spring, and will be a delight all Summer to wear over dainty frocks.
